

We wish to send our condolences on the loss of such a wonderful and gifted man and surgeon. My husband, Robert, had to have open heart surgery five years ago and thanks to Dr. Colvin, who did a mitral valve repair rather than a replacement, didn't need to have his chest opened. He was very kind and very reassuring to us. He enabled us to go through such a tremendous ordeal with peace of mind and trust in his gifted hands. The world will miss his genius and his family, friends and patients will miss his kindness.

In sympathy, Robert and Grace Haggerty
